A daughter was born to the wife of Benjamin Bowden of Caspar last week.

James Reilly, a lumberman of Christine, was in town the latter part of the week.

Mrs. T. L. Carothers and Miss Reeves are spending a fortnight in San Francisco.

C. A. Perkins, the popular coast lumberman, was in town the early part of the week.

Vic McClure, who has been working at Cahto for some time past, is home on a visit.

J. W. Patton, an assistant in the Mendocino high school, was in town Sunday.

Tom Longmore, majordomo of the Foster ranch near Hopland, was up during the week.

Percy Handy has been appointed postmaster at Covelo, vice J. S. Redwine, removed.

Judge Mannon spent the early part of the week in San Francisco and Santa Rosa on business.

Miss Mamie Conway, assistant principal of the Fort Bragg school, is quite ill with appendicitis.

Aaron Newfield, an enterprising Point Arena merchant, was over on a business trip Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith made a brief visit to San Francisco during the early part of the week.

H. B. Cartmell, the founder of the Point Arena Record, has started an A. P. A. paper in Stockton.

Will King and wife of San Francisco are spending the week with friends and relatives in this city.

H. T. Christiansen has given up his farm in Anderson valley and in the future will reside on the coast.

J. L. Johnson left for Santa Rosa yesterday. He is still on the trail of the Boonville stage-robbers.

Ves Palmer came down from Covelo Wednesday and left yesterday on the train for San Francisco.

Robert Perli and brother, wellknown residents of Fish Rock, were in town Saturday on land business.

B. N. Springer returned Monday from a three weeks' visit to Healdsburg in the interest of the Maccabbees.

A. J. Haun, who is engaged in the lumbering business at Branscomb, was down on his wheel Monday.

Earl Prather was over from Philo Monday and George Mast came down from Willits on a brief visit.

Henry Boyle and family have deserted Leonard Lake for the season and returned to their home in San Rafael.

John Carey, an old resident of the coast section, died at his home in Cleone last week. He was aged 59 years.

Mabel Hatch, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hatch of Signal Port, died at her home in that place Sunday.

John Nicholson is serving ninety days in the local jail for vagrancy. He was committed by Justice Smith of Mendocino.

Mark Norris of Laytonville visited the county seat on business Monday, and George Hall drove down from Willits on a pleasure trip and to keep himself acquainted with the road.

Mary A. Simpson has applied for divorce from her husband, George S. Simpson.

Thirty-one cases were commenced in the local court during the month—18 civil, 6 criminal and 7 probate.

James Eddie, a wellknown stock-buyer of Eel river, brought down 17 head of beef cattle for Edwards Bros. Wednesday.

Dr. Case returned Monday from an extensive tour in the interest of the order of Foresters, of which he is the leading officer.

Miss Jennie McElroy, who has been teaching at Rockport the past few months, has returned to this city for the winter vacation.

A collision between the steamers Rival and Coquille City occurred at Fort Bragg last week. The latter vessel was slightly damaged.

Allie Grindle of Mendocino is now an apprentice in the Union Iron works of San Francisco.

W. T. Buck, an old resident of this county, has removed with his family to Upper Lake. He is charmed with his new location.

The Halloween ball at Mason's hall Friday evening last was poorly attended, but a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all who were present.

J. L. Kidwell and Miss Anne Kenny were married at Cuffeys Cove last week and left on a bridal tour to San Francisco immediately after the ceremony.

Albert G. Johnson, who built the Usal mill and for several years acted as superintendent of the Usal Redwood company, has purchased the Morris mill at Coquille City, Or.

Charley Carroll, editor of The Calistogian, who came up on the press excursion, went over to the coast to visit relatives and was taken snddenly ill. The malady, however, is not dangerous.

Dr. R. E. Reese of Greenwood passed through Ukiah Tuesday on his way to San Francisco on a business visit. Mr. Reese has been located at Greenwood for about two years and stands high as a medical practicioner.

Smith & Gibson received two carloads of salt last week. Mark Gibson was surprised at the second load, as he had ordered but one, but succeeded in disposing of half his purchase to Edwards Bros., who will use it for salting their Red mountain copper mine.

Colonel La Motte visited Little Lake the early part of the week for the purpose of securing a location for an egg station for the local fish hatchery. He secured a spot particularly adapted to his purpose and will push the construction of weirs and other paraphernalia necessary to a finish.

There were lively times in Greenwood Saturday evening last, the occasion being the dedication of a new fraternal hall for the use of the Foresters and Maccabbees. There were representatives present from the various courts and tents in Gualala, Point Arena, Albion, Greenwood, Boonville, Mendocino and Caspar. The dedicatory ceremony was performed by Grand Chief Ranger Case, after which there was an excellent literary and musical program. The banquet prepared by Mrs. W. H. White was enjoyed by 169 guests, after which dancing was the vogue.

An expedition to view and photograph the eclipse of the sun in India on January 22d next left San Francisco Saturday last for Hong Kong, on the steamer Belgic. It is headed by Prof. Charles Burkhalter of the Chabot observatory of Oakland. Prof. Burkhalter, who is an uncle of Gene Holbrook of Potter, has an invention of his own which he expects to give the best results ever obtained in photographing the eclipse of the sun. Mr. Burkhalter took it to Japan with him but the fact that there was a heavy storm on the day of the eclipse there prevented its being tested.

Cornelius O'Connor, the capitalist and ex-director of the local asylum, is seriously, and it is feared, dangerously ill at his home in San Francisco. He has been in ill health for some time, but was not compelled to remain at home until two weeks ago. He is suffering from a dangerous ailment of the liver, and his physicians fear that he may not recover. The disease made its appearance several years ago, but was induced to submit to treatment. Two years ago Mr. O'Connor went to Carlsbad to seek relief and returned apparently very much improved in health. The improvement was only temporary, however, and the disease returned with renewed vigor.

SUPERVISORS TO BE TRIED

Judge Burnett Overrules the Demurrer Interposed by Defendants

SUFFICIENT CAUSE FOR ACTION

The Overruled Demurrer Was the Charge Wherein the Board is Accused of Having Allowed a Road Claim Out of the General Road Fund After Depletion.

The Demurrer Overruled.

In overruling the demurrer to accusation No. 4929 Judge Burnett says: In averring an offense against a public officer it is usually sufficient to use the language of the statute designating the offense. Besides, the language of the accusation is probably broad enough to meet this objection. It is alleged that they did knowingly, willfully and unlawfully examine, settle and allow the claim of M. V. Helm for the sum of $495.54. It would have been more satisfactory if there were a positive allegation that the supervisors knew that the fund had been exhausted, but I have reached the conclusion that this accusation is not fatally defective, and the demurrer will be and is hereby overruled.

Judge Burnett, who presided in the local court in the case brought against the board of supervisors by the late grand jury, handed down a decision Tuesday afternoon, There were five accusations made by the grand jury, and to each of them the defense interposed a demurrer. The decision sustains the demurrer in four of the accusations, but the fifth contention of District Attorney Sturtevant was sustained. Therefore the supervisors will go to trial for alleged misdemeanor in office. Below will be found a concisive summary of Judge Burnett's decision:

Before proceeding to the consideration of these objections in detail it may be profitable to review somewhat briefly the provisions of the code in reference to the duties of the supervisors in the allowance of claims and the disposition of the revenues of the county. It will be noticed that three of the charges of misconduct are that the supervisors allowed claims against certain road funds after the funds had been exhausted and in excess of the revenue provided for the fiscal year.

One is for allowing a claim, presumably not verified, and the other for allowing an illegal claim. In sub-division 18 of section 25 of the county government act of 1897, it is provided that the board of supervisors has power to establish a salary fund, and such other county funds as they may deem necessary for the proper transaction of the business of the county, and to transfer moneys from one fund to another as the public interest may require. This provision has been a part of the law since 1883. This authority of the board of supervisors to transfer moneys from one fund to another is modified and limited by other provisions of the law. As said in Potter vs Fowzer, 78 Cal., 497, it cannot be construed to authorize the transfer to a fund established by law, and expressly limited in the amount of its receipts. Section 36 of the county government act, page 361, statutes of 1893, is as follows: The board must not, for any purpose, contract debts or liabilities, except in pursuance of law, nor shall such indebtedness or liability, in any manner or for any purpose, except as permitted in section five of this act, and except in cases of emergency when necessary for repairing any bridge or bridges, exceed in any fiscal year the income and revenue provided for such year.

It shall be the duty of the auditor, at the commencement of each regular session of the board, to lay before it a statement prepared by him of the aggregate amount of allowance against each fund, and of salaries and liabilities fixed by law paid or payable therefrom since the beginning of the fiscal year, together with a statement of receipts of each fund for that portion of the year already elapsed, and an exact estimate of the revenue for the remainder of the year apportioned to the different funds, based upon the receipts for the corresponding portion of the preceeding year.

The board shall have no power to make allowances against any funds which, with all allowances previously made, and salaries and liabilities fixed by law payable therefrom, shall exceed the auditor's estimate of revenue for the year or such proportion thereof as the time already elapsed shall bear to the entire year. Any allowance made contrary to the provisions of this section shall be null and void and the auditor shall not draw his warrant therefor, nor the treasurer pay the same. The language of the constitution on this point is also plain.

These requirements are easily understood and ought to be rigidly observed. It is to be feared, however, that they are not always regarded by public officials as strictly and punctiliously as a strong sense of duty demands. It must be apparent from the section of the constitution and the statute in conformity therewith, that the board of supervisors, without a vote of the people, has no right whatever to incur any liability or indebtedness in any fiscal year in excess of the revenue provided for that year. It has no authority to make any allowance against any fund which, with allowance already made and liabilities fixed by law, shall exceed the auditor's estimate of revenue for that fund.

It must follow that the board has no authority to allow any claim against any fund for services performed during the fiscal year, after the whole revenue provided for that fund during said fiscal year has been exhausted. If the supervisors contract such liability or allow such claim, their act is absolutely void as far as binding the county is concerned. They may be individually liable, but the county is not liable.

The auditor has no right to draw his warrant for any claim allowed under such conditions, and the treasurer pays such warrant at his peril. It was claimed at the argument by counsel for defendants that where the services were performed before the revenue was exhausted, the claim for said services ought to be allowed by the board, although presented after the entire fund for the fiscal year has been exhausted. This position is directly opposed to the statute. The board has no right to allow a claim for services performed during one fiscal year to be paid out of funds collected for another fiscal year, as the revenues of each year can only be applied to indebtedness created in the same year.

The High School Wins.

The high school football team defeated the Tamalpais academy boys in a match game at San Rafael Saturday last by a score of 12 to 4. The local team was denominated hayseeds when they stepped off the train at San Rafael, and the academy boys were so chagrined over the defeat that the captain of the team could not be induced to bid the local boys au revoir on their departure.

After the Outlaws.

The peace officers are still on the trail of the Boonville stage suspects, but nothing tangible has yet developed. J. M. Standley is said to be on a hot track of one of the murderers, a description of whom was given him by Teamster Lawson, who was present near the scene of the murder when the crime was committed, and who saw the outlaws after they had unmasked. It is the first time it was known that a description could be obtained.

Horst Bros., hop-dealers of Sacramento, have leased the Douglass ranch, near this city, for a term of years at an annual rental of $1600 per annum. The Douglass ranch is one of the most productive hopfields in the valley, and was leased by Horst Bros. with the privilege of buying at the end of five years. Later reports state that the sale of the ranch has been effected.

In the case of Sonoma county against Gil P. Hall, Judge Mannon has rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. The case was one brought by the plaintiff to recover damages from Hall for alleged failure to deliver a fee book to his successor in office. The judge held that the delivery had been made.

Six land proofs were made during the past week—J. T. Capell, D. Luchenetti, P. Ginoli, J. Zarucchi, R. A. Hansen and Barclay Turner.

OUTRE OCCURRENCES.

FUNNY FREAKS AND PECULIAR HAPPENINGS.

Weekly Budget of Things Which Take Place Without Apparent Provocation. Incidents and Accidents Due to Planetary Influences.

United States Marshal Gallagher, who has been investigating charges recently made against residents of Round valley accused of selling liquor to Indians, came down from Covelo the early part of the week and left on the noon train Monday for San Francisco.

As stated exclusively in THE PRESS last week, there is great excitement in Covelo over the numerous arrests made by the reservation authorities, and a later dispatch from Cahto states that bloodshed is feared. The dispatch further says that the Indian police are guarding the jail in which the white men arrested are confined, and that secret meetings have been held by indignant citizens, who are said to openly threaten retaliation in case another raid is made by the police.

In addition to those whose names were previously mentioned by THE PRESS as having been arrested, T. J. Taggart and Frank Youree have also been apprehended by the officers.

Advices from Cahto state that the illegal sale of liquor to Indians has been carried on successfully in Round valley for many years, and that the government has been secretly investigating the reports for months past, and that the recent arrests are in pursuance of a policy inaugurated by the government a long time ago.

It is said that the crime for which Ves Palmer was arrested recently consisted of the alleged purchase of a bottle of whisky for one of his Indian vaqueros something over a year ago, and that the matter was then bottled up for future use.

Thomas Quijada, it is said, did not knowingly violate the law, as he simply treated a friend to liquor while riding over the reservation.

In the Frozen North.

R. B. Jones, formerly of this city, who went up to St. Michaels as supercargo of the steamer Navarro, has left Fort Get There and gone up to the Karluk river, 260 miles north of the mouth of the Yukon. He took a sled and dogteam and two Indian guides. He went to investigate reports of discoveries of vast beds of coarse gold by Indians. The Thomas Dwyer, the river steamer towed up by the Navarro, is reported by Mr. Jones to be about 600 miles up the Yukon. A subsequent report, however, shows that the Jones party did not reach their proposed destination. Instead the captain of the steamer on which they had engaged passage refused to land them, so they came back to San Francisco.

A Robust Patient.

Mrs. Seymour, matron of the local state hospital, met with a very exciting adventure the other day. She was attending to her duties in the female ward of the asylum, and was approached by one of the patients. She anticipated no warlike demonstration until she was caught by the hair by the lunatic and thrown down. The patient retained her hold on Mrs. Seymour's locks and dragged her down one or two flights of stairs before assistance could be summoned. The matron had been in ill health and was therefore unable at the time to protect herself. Aside from a severe nervous shock no injury was inflicted on the matron.

Thrown From a Horse.

Barclay Ginochio, a young fellow aged about 12 years, was riding a lively horse Saturday last, and when near the grammar school grounds the animal became uncontrollable and ran into the hitching chain surrounding the square. Young Ginochio was thrown violently from the horse and quite severely injured. He was taken to the office of Dr. Wyckoff, who rendered all possible assistance. The young fellow was injured internally, but is now able to be around.

Painfully Burned.

Harry Mohn, the assistant at the local fish hatchery, was painfully burned about the face Saturday last. Mr. Mohn was warming a can of tar, and in picking the vessel up it slipped from his grasp. The boiling liquid splashed into his face and over his clothes and he was very painfully burned. Medical assistance was promptly summoned and everything possible done to alleviate his suffering. He is getting along nicely, the injuries apparently not proving as severe as first anticipated.

The officials of the New York Central railroad made a careful examination of the disastrous wreck on the road near Garrison, last week, and state that the disaster was caused by dynamite, placed there by robbers to wreck and rob the express car, which was carrying $400,000 worth of coin and jewelry. The robbers secured none of valuables. Twenty persons lost their lives by the wreck.

Rev. Charles O. Brown, who figured so prominently in a San Francisco church scandal sometime ago, still stands suspended from the ministry. He appealed his case to the mutual council of the Congregational church, and the matter came up for hearing last week at Chicago. The Bar conference was declared to have been justified in suspending Dr. Brown. At the same time the finding of the council vindicates him of the original serious charge, and urges that the conference and the minister strive to adjust their differences. Brown will continue as pastor of the Chicago church he now has charge of.

Henry George, candidate of the Thomas Jefferson Democracy for mayor of Greater New York, died at 4:10 o'clock Friday morning at the Union-square hotel, New York, of cerebral apoplexy. The sudden end was totally unexpected. The night previous to his death Mr. George made some vigorous campaign speeches, and when he reached his rooms complained of feel tired. He soon lapsed into unconsciousness and passed quietly away, without pain or murmur. The diseased was at one time quite prominent in California, where he married and his children were born. He was engaged at times writing for various San Francisco papers. Henry George Jr. has been nominated to take his father's place on the ticket and has accepted the position.

A Chilean steamship company will in January begin to run its vessels to Ocos, Guatemala, and six months later extend the line to San Francisco. The new line will greatly reduce freight rates to Peru and Chili, and coast merchants will be greatly benefited by the change.

Peter and Harry Braun, grocers of Aurora, Ill., were held up by footpads on a recent night. Harry ran away. Peter attacked one robber, who shot and killed. The shooter saw a man sneaking toward him and he fired, killing him instantly. The second dead man proved to be the murderer's partner.

ENGLISH IN CHICAGO.

Discussion on Grammar Between a Newspaper and a Citizen.

The Chicago Inter Ocean becomes both sarcastic and indignant when any one questions the purity of its diction. So when a reader named Campbell ventured to criticise expressions used by its society editor the captious one found that he had caught a Tartar. This is the way The Inter Ocean puts it:

Inclosed with the following letter, received a few days ago, were two clippings from the society columns of The Inter Ocean:

Here are three barbarisms that caught my eye in this morning's issue of your paper—There is no such word as "gowned"—it is mearly a Cockney vulgarism that had its origin in London, England—"Swellest" is of the same sort—and same origin—No American having any regard for purity of language can use such slang—As all these words appear in so called "society items" I take it your Society editor is a male or female dude and needs a lesson in language—The harm done by the use of such words in your paper is very great as thousands of children read it and absorb its words—Do stop this Cockney vulgarity—

JAMES CAMPBELL.

There is no doubt you mean well, Jim, but a term in a night school would be beneficial even to you before you begin to give lessons in English. To begin with, you would be taught there that our grandfather, Lindley Murray, always told us to use periods. You ought to have known Lindley, Jim. He was a distinguished grammarian, you know, or perhaps you don't know.

And then, Jim, there was Tennyson. He said of a heroine in one of his poems that she was "gowned in pure white." So you see Lord Tennyson found the word "gowned" to be useful long before you learned to walk steady on your hind feet or to eat with your front hoofs. Webster says "gowned" means "dressed in a gown; clad."

You say that these barbarians "caught your eye," and you fail to mention which eye they caught. How is the other eye?

You are right when you say that our society editor is either a male or a female. Do you belong to one of these sexes? We suspect not. When you write again, spell "merely" as it should be. The way you spelled it is like spelling your name "camel" instead of "Campbell." See that hump?

We don't like to offend your sensitive ear, or the other one either, Jim. Buy Webster's Dictionary and a fourth reader. Start right, and your sensitive ear may outgrow its affliction.

The Basques.

The Basques, or Euskaldunak, as they call themselves, on account of the primitive character of their institutions, but more particularly because of the archaic features of their language, have long attracted the attention of ethnologists. Few writers on European travel have been able to keep their hands off this interesting people. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining information from the original Basque sources a wide range of speculation has been offered for cultivation. Interest for a long time mainly centered in the language; the physical characteristics were largely neglected. The last ten years have, however, witnessed a remarkable change in this respect. A series of brilliant investigations has been offered to science, based almost entirely upon the study of the living population. As a consequence this people has within a decade emerged from the hazy domain of romance into the clear light of scientific knowledge. Much yet remains to be accomplished, but enough is definitely known to warrant many conclusions both as to their physical origin and ethnic affinities.—"The Racial Geography of Europe" in Popular Science Monthly.

Butler's Spoons.

General Robertson tells a story of the late General Benjamin F. Butler which is new to me, and as the old hero himself told it to General Robertson it may be new to you as well. It happened one time when General Butler was in Portland. A great reception had been arranged in his honor, and the largest hall in town was engaged to hold it in. The place was lavishly decorated, and one white muslin banner especially attracted the general's attention. On it was painted in large black letters:

"General Benjamin F. Butler, the hero of Five Forks."

And beneath the big letters somebody had written:

"And goodness only knows how many spoons."—Washington Post.

His Bluff.

Father—Have you got a terribly slow horse?

Stable Keeper—Well, yes.

Father—Is he a regular snail?

Stable Keeper—Aye, aye.

Father—Have him round to my door at 10 o'clock tonight. One of my daughters is goin to elope, and I've got to make a show of ketchin her.—London Fun.

Selfish.

DEATH OF MRS. ONYETT.

The Passing of a Lady Pioneer at Her Home in Butte.

The following from the Oroville Mercury will be read with interest by many in this county:

Mrs. Amy Onyett, widow of the late John Onyett, died in Palermo at an early hour on Friday morning. She was born in England in 1810, and came to the United States when she was 27 years of age. For fifteen years her home was in Evansville, Ind. In 1852 she and her husband came to California and they made their home on Feather river, south of Oroville, and lived within eight miles of that town for forty-five years.

Her husband departed this life some years ago, but Mrs. Onyett lived on hale and hearty until within a few days, when she began to fail and on Thursday evening complained of feeling very poorly and that she could not breathe freely. At four o'clock yesterday morning she dropped into a sleep from which she never woke. From her advanced age, 87 years, 3 months and 21 days, the length of time she resided in Butte, from the number of her decendants and because a great number knew her personally, we deem it proper to give more than an ordinary notice of her death.

She gave birth to fourteen children, seven of whom are now living. These are Mrs. S. Hornbrook, Mrs. O'Neil, Mrs. H. A. Eldred of Round valley, Mendocino county, Mrs. James Kirby and Mrs. George Underwood of Union district, Charles Onyett of Honcut and S. B. Onyett of Palermo. The deceased was grandmother to Mrs. Dr. Moore of this city. There are thirty-five grand-children and fifty-two great grand-children, making with her own sons and daughters ninety-five lineal descendants, all now living. Her oldest great grandchild, Harry Kister of Ukiah, is past 21 years of age. Her oldest grandchild is E. M. Kister of the asylum.

She was a woman of remarkable energy and physical ability. Up to a year ago she was able to do as much hard work as most younger women and her mental powers were almost unimpaired, except a slight defect in her hearing. For many years she and her husband kept a public house so she is widely known to a large number of people in this part of the state. She was an excellent cook and housekeeper and gained more than ordinary praise for her efforts in this line. She was kindhearted, obliging, an earnest and sincere friend, a devout Christian.

She lived to witness many changes in this county. Coming here as she did soon after the discovery of gold she saw the rush of the mining days, the excitement of gold gathering, the rapid building up of towns and in many cases their swift destruction. She lived to see the great plains become dotted with homes, the land brought under cultivation, the production of immense crops and the changes from wheat and cattle to fruits and gardens and well built homes. She took a keen and active interest in things appertaining to the public and will be sadly missed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

The Difference.

The Carson News says running a newspaper is like running a hotel, only it's different. A man goes into a hotel for his dinner and if he finds upon the table something that does not suit his taste he does not go up and throw the landlord down stairs and tell him to stop his hotel. He simply partakes of what he likes. How different with newspapers. When a subscriber finds a two line item that does not suit him he never stops to think that the item may please others, but he rushes off to the newspaper office, puffs and blows like a locomotive and orders the paper stopped immediately, if not sooner. But the paper does not stop. Only his paper stops going to him and goes to someone else, who subscribed simply because he was pleased with the article that offended the other man. Then the quitter will find out how much he is missed by sticking his finger in a bowl of water, then withdrawing it and looking for the hole. People must realize that a newspaper is published to satisfy as many people as possible. All sorts of news for all sorts of people and if you do strike an item that does not suit you, just let it go for the use of the other fellow.

PERSONALS.

H. T. Hatch is on the coast on a business visit.

Fourteen marriage licenses were issued during October.

The board of state hospital managers will meet tomorrow.

Dr. Gale will hold the quarterly conference tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

J. R. Thomas returned Saturday from a hunting trip. He was quite successful.

Rev. O. S. Barnum will preach every evening next week at St. John's church.

Mrs. Princess Long will give her grand concert at Marks operahouse the 19th inst.

Tax money is coming in quite lively. The collections for October were about $8000.

W. G. Poage has removed from the old law building into his new quarters next door to The Press office.

Twenty steam and sailing vessels called at coast ports and loaded lumber for San Francisco during the past month.

Dr. E. W. King has on hand 45 tons of dried prunes, the product of his orchard near this city. The crop was a very good one.

W. W. Porterfield returned Tuesday last from the east, looking much healthier for his extended stay at the Kansas sanitarium.

Just think of it! Nearly 10,000,000 feet of lumber and 55,602 railway ties were shipped from this county to San Francisco during October.

John Eastwood says he is growing tried of imposters. He avers that every place he goes he finds popocrats who are now masquerading as Democrats.

Postmaster General Gary has issued an order forbidding the rental of boxes to minors. The object of the order is to put a stop to the receiving of love letters by minors without the knowledge of parents.

The entertainment given Wednesday evening at St. John's church was a most pronounced success. It was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed, some of the recitations being received with great applause.

The latest hop sale was made by Bartlett brothers, who disposed of 175 bales Tuesday last to Horst Bros.' agent, Farmer Cox. The price paid was 10¾ cents a pound. There are now 1392 bales of hops in Ukiah valley still unsold.

Tom Burris, the noted bear hunter, was severely bitten by a coyote the other day. Tom was endeavoring to domesticate the brute, but it refused to accept his well meant advances. It bit a piece out of his hand and chewed an undercut out of his left ear.

The X ray is the connecting link between the seen and unseen in the material world. It will cause the facts of physics to be rewritten. You can learn all about this modern wonder and strange phenomena at Marks operahouse tomorrow night.

The country editor is a reliable encyclopedia. A subscriber sent a contemporary this query recently: "What ails my hens? Every morning I find one or more of them keeled over, to raise no more." The reply was: "The fowls are dead. It is an old complaint, and nothing can be done except to bury them."

The Death of Michael Roth.

Died, in Nogales, Arizona, on the 1st instant, Michael Roth, aged 78 years and 6 days. The deceased left a large circle of friends here to mourn his loss. He was the father of Mrs. George Eff of this city, and for five years was an honored and respected citizen of Ukiah. He was born in Wurzburg, Bavaria, in September, 1824, and died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Williams, of Nogales, Arizona. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Eff in their sad bereavement.

Lost? No not lost, but simply gone before,
To walk the parlor of a spotless sky;
To hold ajar heaven's talismanic door,
That ye may pass within there by and by.

He Still Needed Her.

A pathetic little tribute to a wife's tact and self forgetfulness was given by an old New Hampshire farmer.

The couple had lived happily together for nearly 50 years, and when the wife died her husband seemed utterly unable at first to act or even think for himself. The funeral was taken in charge by an energetic niece, and, according to those who were present, everything was conducted with propriety. One of the neighbors stopped to speak to the poor old widower when the last offices at the grave had been performed.

"William," she said, laying a kindly hand on her old friend's shoulder, "I think everything was beautiful. It was just such a funeral as Mary wished, I am sure."

"You mean well, Mis' Snowden, I know," said the old man, looking up at her with dim eyes, "but you don't take it in as I do. Niece Ellen couldn't see to everybody's comfort as Mary would have. Why, I've thought a dozen times today if Mary was only here to 'tend to this funeral seems to me I could almost bear to have lost her."—Youth's Companion.

He Forgot the Instructions.

A Georgia man who had made a flying machine offered a negro $10 to make a trial trip in it.

The negro agreed, got in position, and he and the machine were hoisted by block and tackle about 30 feet from terra firma.

When the rope was loosened, the machine took a sudden slanting course toward earth and plunged into an adjacent millpond.

It disappeared with the negro beneath the water, while the terrified inventor stood shrieking for assistance.

Presently the negro's head bobbed up serenely, and he struck out for dry land. On arriving his first spluttered words were:

"In de name er God, Marse John, why didn't you tell dat fool thing whar ter light?"—Atlanta Constitution.

The Juggernaut.

The ghastly stories told of many of the Indian fanatics who at the religious festivals throw themselves beneath the wheels of the Juggernaut car are for the most part imaginative, or at any rate grossly exaggerated. These car festivals, which sometimes attracted as many as 100,000 pilgrims, have certainly resulted in loss of life, but it is stated these deaths were purely accidental.

An extraordinary find of French and English armor, dating from the time of the crusades, has been made at Constantinople.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest. "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable "gone" feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their unanimous conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.
